Dec 1885 p115 Church Gazette
1996-1997 My assistant diocesan secretary in the diocese Dogura PNG was 'Lonsdale'; he told me his name came from his family's long term Anglican tradition in New Britain, in the Bismarck archipelago; I was able to tell him that in all likelihood an early missionary Lonsdale PRITT had baptised his ancestor with his Christian name, for he was a missionary when the Bismarck archipelago was part of the original diocese of Melanesia, province of New Zealand. With courtesy he indicated that he had not the slightest interest but knew that they were Anglicans 'from way back'. (MWB)

Pyatt Crescent St John's Auckland named after him obviously a pastoral visitor as this story tells:
Mrs ROCHFORD was delighted to welcome me a year later and tell me the story of a sudden visitor as we drank tea beneath the large photograph of Michael Joseph SAVAGE in her living room. 1977 Ma ROCHFORD the last anglican at Jacobs River church in South Westland, opened her front door to a loud knock: 'Dear God, it's My Lord!' and she invited in the bishop on his casual passing-through visit. The bishop suggested I visit her when he and Molly visited in 1978 and spent a couple of nights at the vicarage in HariHari. (MWB)

I remember Mrs ROBERTSHAWE (wife) who used to park her Riley Elf several feet from the kerb in Vivian St New Plymouth when attending S Mary and speak in a lowered voice of "The Canon." They felt personal names should be used with close friends only, in a time when it was becoming the thing to use personal names rather than a wife referring publicly to her husband as "Mr." Lived in the Wilson home, Victoria Road. She always attended evensong and supported the evening Youth services. Her sister Mrs Phyl HENDRICKS retired to NP too. Family very involved Anglicans, son John spent some time with the Melanesian Mission, daughter Ros, headmistress S Mary's Stratford, in later years synods rep for S Mary New Plymouth where sisters Constance (Con), a matron and for 16 years a member of Tainui Home trust board (NP), and Helen, a life member of the NZ Choral Federation, were also involved. Mark ROBERTSHAWE for many years a vestry member of S John church and cathedral Napier. RAB and pers. comm. with family.

born Dec 1820 Warsaw Poland, age 26 ordained deacon and priest by Dr MOUNTAIN bishop of Quebec, active with the Colonial and Continental Church Society (CCCS, Evangelical patronage society) who appointed him principal (of the new anti-Ritualist) Huron College Canada;
(21 Mar 1883) the bishop of Ripon Robert BICKERSTETH (of an Evangelical family) announced formal royal assent to the appointment of HELLMUTH as bishop suffragan of Hull – but this announcement was illegal as the see did not exist, and the error was corrected by HELLMUTH's subsequent licensing as assistant-bishop to the Bishop of Ripon the Evangelical BICKERSTETH
(25 Sep 1883) first ordination for Ripon by HELLMUTH DD DCL lately bishop of Huron recently arrived England to enter appointment as assistant bishop in the diocese of Ripon; residing Harrogate

(1884) his appointment as assistant-bishop to the bishop of Ripon lapsed on the death of Robert BICKERSTETH the sympathetic bishop of Ripon;

I went to Christchurch college 1971, the year after he left. Students loved to relate how his wife's face had been superimposed over someone's dressed in full liturgical dress. This was at the time of debate about the ordination of women. It appeared perhaps in the college magazine, The House, subtitled "Sex in the Sanctuary." The following Sunday, the "Boss Man" (students' name for the principal) shook hands with every student leaving chapel but staring down to see if he could recognise the brogue shoes sticking out from the chasuble. After the death of Mary his first wife (early 1903 in London) he made a spiritual retreat with the Community of the Resurrection in Mirfield West Riding Yorkshire and did consider a vocation to the religious life as a lay brother. This connection with CR was continued (1910) when Fr J W FitzGERALD and Fr Timothy REES CR were with the Mission of Help to New Zealand. My father remembers him affectionately because as a teenager, "Mr SELL" gave him and other boys the responsibility during WW2 of ringing the bell and acting as sides-persons, counting the collection, opening the church (my father was a sidesperson all his life). He recalls the "Procession of Witness'' led by DERRY's Military Band distributing posies around the parish each year on Mothering Sunday at S Stephen Shirley. He held the youth Bible class in the vicarage lounge and totally ignored Norman BLAIN (MWB's uncle & a close friend of my uncle Graham BRUÈRE) going in behind the settee and letting the Holland blind shoot up. [Historical Note on Norfolk Island and New Zealand:
(1788) Norfolk Island was settled from Sydney, later abandoned, later re-settled as a 'place of secondary punishment', subject to the government of NSW and (from 1836) the bishop of Australia.
(1840) when transportation to NSW ceased, it continued to Van Diemen's Land [Tasmania] until 1853.
(1840) Norfolk Island (remaining as a penal settlement) came under Tasmanian colonial jurisdiction and (1842) after the creation of the diocese of Tasmania under the bishop of Tasmania.

(1856) GA SELWYN tried to buy land on Norfolk Island as the base for the incipient Melanesian mission. Sir William DENISON the governor of NSW and governor general of the Australian colonies (the latter office being titular only and ceasing in 1861) objected to SELWYN's proposal because he did not want Norfolk Island to be the centre of SELWYN's Melanesian mission – he referred to 'the influence of the savage Melanesians on Mr NOBBS' carefully-guarded and child-like flock'.
(1866) under his successor Sir John YOUNG the Melanesian mission did purchase land on Norfolk Island:
(1867) Norfolk Island was the headquarters for the missionary diocese of Melanesia, and thus part of the Anglican province of New Zealand.
(1913) administration of Norfolk Island transferred from the NSW state to the Australian federal government
(1919) after the headquarters of the diocese of Melanesia moved to the Solomons, the parish of Norfolk Island continued to be staffed by chaplains appointed by the diocese of Melanesia.
(05 Aug 1938) Norfolk Island was formally transferred to the diocese of Sydney, and thus the Anglican church of Australia. (269;111)

The Daily Southern Cross noted that the ship was 'engaged to convey the Right Revd the Lord Bishop of New Zealand and suite to Auckland'

27 Sep 1858 by letters patent now metropolitan bishop of New Zealand (with HARPER, HOBHOUSE, ABRAHAM now episcopal assistants to him rather than to the bishop of Sydney who had been to each their metropolitan)

1861 resigned charge of Melanesian mission to JC PATTESON missionary bishop for Melanesia;
after his 11th visit he did not again visit the Melanesian mission

Other Notes

His brother William SELWYN was a member of the Ecclesiological Society (previously Cambridge Camden Society); George was an episcopal patron but before accepting that appointment, not a member. (312)

1851 Mrs Charlotte GODLEY describes him. 'A quite first-rate man, and so untiring and earnest in his calling, that you look at him almost with wonder and always with pleasure; he has such a very fine head, and regular features, and when he has lost only a few more hairs at the back of his head will be exactly like the pictures of S Carlo BORROMEO…. No one is quite perfect, and with grief I must own that one of the Bishop's eyes is not quite so lively as the other; it is scarcely a cast, far less anything of a squint, but a slight want of unanimity that just mars the perfect benignity of his expression; and it is the greater pity, because they are such very good eyes.' After watching him with the Revd Thomas JACKSON, she noted: 'his disposition is to take a certain kind of pride in "roughing it" and "doing without" things, so that he took great pleasure in assuring Mrs JACKSON that she would find realities very different from these charming dreams [of her husband's fantasy plans for this designated see of Lyttelton/Christchurch], and Mr JACKSON was almost angered at last at the contemptuous way in which the Bishop received his little affected jokes and notions about the people and ways of going on here.' * S Anselms was the brief result of Bishop CHERRINGTON's attempts to found a diocesan seminary. Students lived in the bishop's house and he was their principal tutor. Candidates who were not able to meet selection standards in other New Zealand dioceses were accepted by CHERRINGTON who ordained them after little training. 'Very queer people' (information Allan PYATT pers comm 1971)
[In CHERRINGTON's defence, Auckland diocese carved the Waikato off in 1926 without any endowments and he spent his first years drumming up cash in England and took candidates from the Brotherhood of S Paul Little Barfield. He also felt the drain of men called up for military chaplaincy in WW2. RAB]
Through Ian O'NEILL a novice at Mirfield for years and a family leader at S Barnabas Roseneath, Edward Williams STARTUP presented Roseneath with a pair of brass glass processional lanterns for use outside. [MWB]

Other

AngloPapalist (of the Latin rite) – when staying with Fr STURT on my arrival in England (Nov 1965) I offered to join him for evensong in Holy Cross; he explained it was not possible as he was using the Latin breviary; yet in the 1970s while with me in Bishopdale, he was using the English offices in the Book of Common Prayer; by then I was using the Latin office; thus both in 1965 and in 1977 the conflict of languages meant that we did not pray the office together (MWB)

Easter 1883 Vava
1888 married pagan local woman and left mission (398)
1893, 1894 repentance noted by A BRITTAIN and encored by Bishop JR SELWYN in England (261)
Jun 1897-Jul 1897 with support of Lealul [?wife?] meets with John PALMER on a visit to the Banks Islands: 'utterly broken down, speaks of repentance but blames everyone else, yet shows signs of a shift forward' (415) but FOX (412) has the following information which does not reconcile with other information:
1878 began small school on Lakona
1878-1885 taught excellently, Banks group
1884 ordained and regarded as one of ablest best Melanesian clergy
1888 complete failure: people drove him from Lakona and he returned to Mota
n d came to grief again, on Mota lived quietly on Mota and died there, not re-instated (412)
Other
1893 Bishop JR SELWYN noted: 'this man utterly broke away after years of faithful service. The Bishop, Mr. Palmer and his uncle George SARAWIA did all they could to save him, but in vain. But God's grace has not failed him, and the earnest prayers of the friends of the mission are asked for him, that the good shepherd may indeed bring this lost sheep, quite home to his fold'
Jul 1893 'Maros [TAMATA], the lapsed Deacon, after some wild proceedings resembling those of a maniac, seems to have come to his right mind, and has written a letter to Mr. PALMER, expressing deep penitence for his past conduct.' (261)
25 Oct 1894 Bishop WILSON noted that MAROS jumped overboard, claiming Florida boys were trying to kill him, but the bishop thought him mentally disturbed.
1895 Bishop WILSON: 'At Mota there had been serious trouble. Maros, the Deacon, courted a young, engaged girl, and persuaded her to send back her real lover's gifts, and accept his in their place. All the people were angry about it, and then it came out that he had sinned with her. They were furious and made an armed demonstration to drive him out of Mota. He has not gone yet, but I believe he will shortly. 'The worst of it is that G. Sarawia has been treating him, as though he had been readmitted to the Diaconate, instead of only to prayers and the Holy Communion.' Southern Cross Log
