Jun 1957 James Leo SCHUSTER, bishop of St Johns Kaffraria: 'Only one thing has marred the happiness of this month and that was the sad news of the death of Father HAZELWOOD at Mount Frere. He was one of those who laid the foundations of the 'goodly heritage'. And now he has passed to his rest. The great crowds that attended his funeral - I believe there were something like 2,000 people there - are a sufficient indication of the affection in which he was held. If any other memorial to him is needed, there is his parish of Mount Frere. It is recognised as one of the best-run parishes in the Diocese. The sympathy of us all goes to Mrs Hazelwood in her loss....' (information from Tracey Stobie 2005)

Note

member of SSC (Societas Sanctae Crucis, Society of the Holy Cross, Catholic priests' religious society) member ECU (English Church Union, the leading Catholic activist group protecting Catholic interests)
Members of the English committee asked by the bishops of New Zealand to organise the mission in England were Bp H H MONTGOMERY chair, Canon George BODY, Canon E A STUART, Canon CUTKEN, Canon WALPOLE, the Revd A W ROBINSON and the Revd Harold ANSON as honorary secretary. The archbishop of York and the bishop of Labuan had been on the committee but on accepting their present positions had to retire. Twelve clergy had been selected to proceed to New Zealand: Canon E A STUART Canterbury, Canon Charles Llewelyn IVENS Halifax, Prebendary H V STUART Stoke-on-Trent, the Revd J C FITZGERALD [CR] Mirfield, the Revd A B G LILLINGSTON Hull, the Revd T REES [CR], the Revd A D TUPPER-CAREY Lowestoft, the Revd Cyril HEPHER Newcastle-on-Tyne, the Revd G de CARTERET Burton-on-Trent, the Revd J J G STOCKLEY Burton-on-Trent, the Revd C T HORAN Holbrook Hall Derby, the Revd H R W FARRER Bridport. (29 Apr 1910 The Press)
E Dering EVANS came too, and TUPPER-CAREY did come but went back early (it appears) as he was taking up a new appointment.
A paper with extreme lowchurch opinions: The English Churchman referring to the coming visit of Ritualist priests says: 'There will be a big invasion of New Zealand by Ritualistic priests early in September … Two Ritualistic priests from England are in New Zealand organising the mission. There are Canon KENNEDY who when in his own parish church wears vestments of a mass priest; and the Canon POLLOCK of Rochester who is a member of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament, and of the English Church Union. Amongst the twelve Mission preachers we find the names of only four Evangelicals. As to the others, Canon [Charles Llewelyn] IVENS is a clergyman whose church was reported to the Royal Commission on Ecclesiastical Disorders for Ritualist practices. He is also a member of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament, and of the English Church Union. The Revd J C FITZGERALD is a member of both the last named societies and he is also one of the Mirfield Monks. The Revd A D TUPPER-CAREY in his own parish church wears the vestments of a mass priest. The Revd Cyril HEPHER is a member of the Secret Society of the Holy Cross which issued The Priest in Absolution. He is also a member of the Romanizing English Church Union…. I hope no Protestant incumbents in New Zealand will invite any of these Ritualistic clergymen to preach in their churches'. The writer was Walter WALSH a notorious anti-Catholic propagandist (06 May 1910 West Coast Times)

NELIGAN bishop of Auckland was critical of this article. Churchill JULIUS bishop of Christchurch offered to take a lead himself as a missioner in Christchurch diocese.

Comment

He valued the power of silent prayer when he experienced that with the Quakers hosted for a time at the Anglican church in Havelock North (21 Oct 2016 Church Times) in detailing the success of the mission, said the general prosperity and the absence of conventionality seemed to stimulate interest in divine things (11 Feb 1911 The Press)

became violently insane on board, held in custody until his death
He appears from JS GUNDRY's diary to have been consumptive, but also severely depressed and with paranoid delusions; he was a college friend of James Edward FitzGERALD
'went to New Zealand to take charge of the settlement at Canterbury' - an interesting but erroneous claim, apparently provided by his family in England (2;43) (MWB)
1851 Mrs Charlotte GODLEY noted the 'sad state of the poor clergyman… who went out of his mind a few weeks after he came on board [the STEADFAST].. now lodges with the doctor and is harmless, but wishes to kill himself… I hear he is consumptive, and has a bad cough.. looks very ill… was at Cambridge with Mr FitzGERALD… He was quite harmless, but rather destructive, would throw candles or books in the fire and at times he would talk sensibly for an hour together.' (43)
1851 JS GUNDRY the surgeon on STEADFAST on arrival in Lyttelton reported that he was sending HODGKINSON's possessions to JE FitzGERALD (of the Canterbury Association and later Superintendent of the province of Canterbury)

"The eagle lectern in the cathedral was presented in memory of Dean HOVELL in 1905 and of course it was only that and the brass altar cross that survived the 1931 earthquake. Dean HOVELL pushed for the brick cathedral against the wishes of Samuel WILLIAMS who refused to fund anything but a wooden cathedral because of the earthquake risk."

Note on the Mission of Help to New Zealand

Members of the English committee asked by the bishops of New Zealand to organise the mission in England were Bp H H MONTGOMERY chair, Canon George BODY, Canon E A STUART, Canon CUTKEN, Canon WALPOLE, the Revd A W ROBINSON and the Revd Harold ANSON as honorary secretary. The archbishop of York and the bishop of Labuan had been on the committee but on accepting their present positions had to retire. Twelve clergy had been selected to proceed to New Zealand: Canon E A STUART Canterbury, Canon Charles Llewelyn IVENS Halifax, Prebendary H V STUART Stoke-on-Trent, the Revd J C FITZGERALD [CR] Mirfield, the Revd A B G LILLINGSTON Hull, the Revd T REES [CR], the Revd A D TUPPER-CAREY Lowestoft, the Revd Cyril HEPHER Newcastle-on-Tyne, the Revd G de CARTERET Burton-on-Trent, the Revd J J G STOCKLEY Burton-on-Trent, the Revd C T HORAN Holbrook Hall Derby, the Revd H R W FARRER Bridport. (29 Apr 1910 The Press) E Dering EVANS came too, and TUPPER-CAREY did come but went back early (it appears) as he was taking up a new appointment.

A paper with extreme low church opinions: The English Churchman referring to the coming visit of Ritualist priests says: 'There will be a big invasion of New Zealand by Ritualistic priests early in September … Two Ritualistic priests from England are in New Zealand organising the mission. There are Canon KENNEDY who when in his own parish church wears vestments of a mass priest; and the Canon POLLOCK of Rochester who is a member of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament, and of the English Church Union. Amongst the twelve Mission preachers we find the names of only four Evangelicals. As to the others, Canon [Charles Llewelyn] IVENS is a clergyman whose church was reported to the Royal Commission on Ecclesiastical Disorders for Ritualist practices. He is also a member of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament, and of the English Church Union. The Revd J C FITZGERALD is a member of both the last-named societies, and he is also one of the Mirfield Monks. The Revd A D TUPPER-CAREY in his own parish church wears the vestments of a mass priest. The Revd Cyril HEPHER is a member of the Secret Society of the Holy Cross which issued The Priest in Absolution. He is also a member of the Romanizing English Church

Union…. I hope no Protestant incumbents in New Zealand will invite any of these Ritualistic clergymen to preach in their churches'. The writer was Walter WALSH a notorious anti-Catholic propagandist (06 May 1910 West Coast Times)
NELIGAN bishop of Auckland was critical of this article. Churchill JULIUS bishop of Christchurch offered to take a lead himself as a missioner in Christchurch diocese.
He received good reviews while in New Zealand.

1851 Mrs Charlotte GODLEY describes him. '.. a little fussy upstanding man, whose very bow and style of greeting, tone, manner, words, all have on them the very stamp of humbug … and forbid the idea of considering him what I have been used to call a gentleman. An outside of easy-going good-nature, not for an instant concealing a most careful watch over his own interest; and selfishness, even about armchairs, and the things he likes to eat; and complete want of reverence in his use of sacred words and expressions… Always self-seeking and inaccurate… his great cleverness and excellence as a land-sale commissioner and the remarkable eloquence of his sermons. His manners are most unpleasant..' She liked Mrs JACKSON better, 'in some ways very good-looking. Better than her husband, and with … a very good figure, and beautiful hands and arms; so that she looks and moves like a lady in spite of herself.' She with chagrin noted that Bishop SELWYN 'could not, and did not, conceal his contempt and even dislike' of T JACKSON. (43)

1879 sought appointment as bishop of Jamaica
1879 sought appointment as assistant bishop for Lichfield (vice GA SELWYN deceased, William Dalrymple MACLAGAN bishop of Lichfield)
1882-12 Jun 1888 (through his association with the Anglo-Continental Society?) JENNER offered his services as 'evěque provisiore' (in his own opinion, appointed to this office by Archibald Campbell TAIT archbishop of Canterbury), associated with Fr Hyacinthe LOYSON, of Église Catholique Gallicane in Paris, whither he made episcopal visits – he informed Edward White BENSON (1883 vice TAIT archbishop of Canterbury) of his resignation of this office, to which BENSON responded that he knew nothing of the matter: TAIT's letter was produced, in which he was seen to have given no opinion on the Gallican movement and Père Hyacinthe LOYSON
22 Feb 1884 wrote to Edward White BENSON archbishop of Canterbury, sought appointment as pro tempore bishop of Natal South Africa (Micro-MS-Coll-20-2762 in ATL)
16 Nov [?1884 or ?1886] ordained to the priesthood 'Monsieur GALLY, a deacon ordained by Bishop [Eduard] HERZOG' of the Old Catholic Church of Switzerland
(280;37;70;24;5;9;37;159)
Note on 'Gallican Catholic Church' Hyacinthe (né Charles) LOYSON (1827-1912) was an RC religious with (in sequence) the Sulpicians, the Dominicans, and the Discalced Carmelites before (1869) excommunication for heresy; he founded (1878) the Gallican Catholic church based in Paris. He was associated with a variety of episcopi vagantes, particularly Joseph René VILATTE (for another connection, see the Revd PERCY WISE CLARKSON). Bishop JENNER appears to have aimed at regularising the 'Gallican Catholic church' by linking it to the more stable Old Catholic church, apparently achieved in 1893. See the papers of FA WHITE treasurer of the French committee of the Anglo-Continental Society for his correspondence (1878-1903) with LOYSON in Paris (Lambeth Palace library).

The 'first Ritualist bishop' (melius: one of the first, for THOMAS N STALEY (1861) 1st bishop of Honolulu was also a Ritualist, and a bishop five years previous to JENNER), 'opposed alike to Roman and Puritan innovations' - yet he was a member of the Romanist SSC (Societas Sanctae Crucis) Society of the Holy Cross, and in his best-known photograph bears an SSC pectoral cross (MWB;238)

Anthology of his synod addresses Responsibly Christian in church and society today published by the Anglican Church 2010 noted for availability to people, he would always visit the people, he boarded with when studying at Victoria, whenever in Wellington
[He was my ordaining bishop and I was among the last he ordained priests before he retired, he gave the blessing from Hebrews 13:20-21 as if it were his own, he liked to be present for our "potty training" (post ordination training). Two things stick in my mind – his stressing care with parish finances (a trustee in his Whangarei parish stood trial for misappropriation of church funds - see 21 Mar 1953 Press) and don't listen to people who run others down – they will probably do the same to you! I feel privileged for being ordained by him. RAB]

1884 with family arrived Victoria Australia on barque SOUTH AUSTRALIAN
17 Sep 1884-1890 incumbent Christ Church cathedral parish Victoria diocese Ballarat
17 Sep 1884 archdeacon of Ballarat (111)
26 Sep 1889 sole nomination in Christchurch diocesan electoral synod; Dean JACOBS had been appointed as Commissary to the Bishop, with the precept from the Bishop of Nelson [SUTER] accepting the resignation of his Lordship the Bishop of Christchurch [HARPER] and appointing the Dean [JACOBS] to preside over the special session of synod; Archdeacon BOWEN nominated Churchill JULIUS to fill the office, and for the necessary lay support, Caleb WHITEFOORD seconded the nomination; testimonies were quoted from Sir William JERVOIS [governor of Straits Settlements, governor of South Australia, governor of New Zealand] , Sir Henry LOCH [governor of Victoria Australia governor of Cape Colony; 1st Baron Loch], Bishop Alfred BARRY [bishop of Sydney, primate of Australia], Bishop Daniel Fox SANDFORD [bishop of Tasmania], and others
Sep 1889 HJC HARPER resigned the primacy of New Zealand church, so next HADFIELD was generally recognised as primate: but senior bishop SUTER of Nelson objected as he thought he was primate as senior bishop 28 Sep 1889 Dean JACOBS declared that JULIUS was now the nominated candidate for bishop of Christchurch; and he was notified of his nomination by cablegram ('tantamount to election' stated the presiding Dean JACOBS), to be confirmed at the annual session of the diocesan synod, by a majority of the Standing committee of the dioceses of New Zealand; the Primate was to obtain the signature of the bishop-elect to the Constitution, certified copies of his signature were to be sent to the different Standing Committees)

28 Sep 1889 by cable (received 4pm) JULIUS announced his acceptance of the bishopric of Christchurch

SUTER as 'Primate' issued necessary document for Standing committees to confirm the election, but the bishops of Wellington HADFIELD and of Dunedin NEVILL ignored the letter as SUTER was not the primate so long as HARPER had not resigned the primacy; were the primacy vacant, only then all would be well and confirmation could proceed:

early Feb 1890 JULIUS wrote he would stay in Ballarat until all settled:

25 Feb 1890 he with his family expected to sail SS ROTOMAHANA departing on 18 Mar 1890 for Bluff New Zealand, to spend time (a week) quietly in Queenstown Central Otago

23 Apr 1890-24 Apr 1890 Wellington, special session of 11th general synod, called to accept formally JULIUS' election as 2nd bishop of Christchurch an election which had become in doubt legally because the 1st bishop HARPER had not in fact submitted his resignation as primate at the date his successor was elected

14 Mar 1890 public meeting to farewell Archdeacon JULIUS, city mayor presided, addresses including H CUTHBERT minister of justice, cheque for £260 (Churchill decided £200 for books, £60 for plate for his wife); clergy gave episcopal ring; tribute and blessing from Bishop THORNTON [Samuel bishop of Ballarat] (Leader Melbourne)

Chair was Sir John HALL, seats on the platform for the bishops of Waiapū [STUART] and of Dunedin [ST NEVILL], Dean JACOBS, Canon CHOLMONDELEY, Archdeacon LINGARD, the Revdd Messrs STACK KNOWLES GILBERT SCOTT GILLAM PURCHAS FLAVELL GIBSON HOARE PASCOE TURRELL YORKE W HARPER CHAMBERS WHITEHOUSE CRUDEN; the Honourable JBA ACLAND, Messrs EG WRIGHT MAUDE FRYER WESTON MURPHY ROSE BATHAM BLAKISTON BRITTAN WHITEFOORD MALET H THOMSON ROUS-MARTEN KAYE GRIGG KIMBELL GORDON and others (Star Christchurch)

03 May 1890 with Mrs JULIUS he attended welcome luncheon in Provincial Buildings chamber: ministers of Presbyterian, Congregational, Wesleyan, Baptist denominations attended, apology for absence of Fr CUMMING of RC church; the Right Revd Bishop HARPER with Mrs JULIUS on his arm first to enter the chamber, then the Primate [HADFIELD of Wellington] with Mrs HADFIELD; HARPER in the chair, JULIUS on his right, Primate [HADFIELD] on his left; JULIUS spoke of his strict Evangelical formation but had become maybe a 'Broad Churchman of High Church views' New Zealand Herald Note: Samuel NEVILL was acting primate from 1902, primate 1904-1919]

Jan 1913 introduced by WC SADLIER bishop of Nelson to OTL CROSSLEY bishop of Auckland, and then commended to AW AVERILL bishop of Waiapū for ordination

Note: The SPG correspondence suggests that as an ordinand KELHAM was passed on by the bishop of Nelson SADLIER to the bishop of Auckland CROSSLEY and that KELHAM at that point was given assurances that he would be (as he hoped) made deacon by the bishop of Auckland CROSSLEY.

However, CROSSLEY resigned very suddenly; the bishop of Waiapū AVERILL then stepped in for the planned Auckland diocesan ordinations, which had necessarily been suspended on the resignation of the bishop of Auckland CROSSLEY. In consequence at these ordinations KELHAM was made a deacon by the bishop of Waiapū AVERILL (taking the place of the resigned Bishop CROSSLEY) acting as the commissary of the primate (NEVILL bishop of Dunedin) and with the authority of the primate of the New Zealand church, NEVILL bishop of Dunedin.

However subsequently AVERILL the same man who as the bishop of Waiapū had ordained KELHAM deacon, on his translation from Waiapū to the see of Auckland - in which see he succeeded the resigned CROSSLEY – now declined to ordain KELHAM to the priesthood and clearly regretted his earlier action when as bishop of Waiapū (acting as commissary for the primate NEVILL bishop of Dunedin) he had made KELHAM a deacon.

In sum: KELHAM was ordained deacon because of CROSSLEY's commitment to this ordination; when the decision whether to ordain him priest was in the power of CROSSLEY's successor, AVERILL the next bishop of Auckland declined to ordain KELHAM priest and he had to go overseas for that.

Thus, we are provided with an interesting example of the complex constitutional procedures of the New Zealand Anglican church, particularly around episcopal responsibility for ordinations. (MWB;see SPG files)

official signature, 'L S Polynesia'
Jun 1923 from England arrived Fiji

[NOTE on the status of the bishopric of Polynesia
(16 Aug 1921) on the resignation of TC TWITCHELL 1st bishop in Polynesia, the status of the bishopric was considered by the New Zealand general synod and others: whether to attach the bishopric now to the province of New Zealand or to the church of Australia. Proposals to have under the bishop of Melanesia (in the Solomon islands) three suffragan bishops, one of whom would be the suffragan bishop of Tonga and Polynesia (based in Fiji) were mooted in the New Zealand Board of Missions and the Australian Board of Missions, as well as with STEWARD the bishop of Melanesia and the English Melanesian Committee (see New Zealand Church News, 69) until:
(Feb 1925) the New Zealand general synod added the missionary see of Polynesia to the missionary diocese of Melanesia as the two missionary dioceses formally now 'associated' with the Church of the Province of New Zealand]

-01 May 1924 after recruiting and a publicity tour of New Zealand and Australia, returned Fiji; addressed 60 meetings New Zealand, 30 in Sydney Melbourne Geelong Ballarat Newcastle; discussed with the New Zealand bishops the question of Polynesia's incorporation in the province of New Zealand (New Zealand Herald)

obituarist comments that he was more known as a politician than a priest, a Radical of the most advanced type who fought for unpopular causes; thus he received many abusive letters. 'You damn scoundrel, I hope your bishop will unfrock you. But frocked or unfrocked I hope the devil gets you. If not, then I say what is the good of having a devil?'

Note

The Blain Biographical Directory includes priests ordained before 1931 who served in the Anglican church province of New Zealand. Harold LAWRENCE was ordained in 1936, well beyond that closing year.
However, during the first years of World War 2 LAWRENCE served in the Northern archdeaconry of the diocese of Melanesia; this archdeaconry then included Bougainville and New Britain, provinces geographically part of New Guinea.
Before the end of World War 2 this Northern archdeaconry of the diocese of Melanesia was transferred out of the diocese of Melanesia and incorporated into the diocese of New Guinea. As the diocese of New Guinea was part of the Anglican province of Brisbane (Australia), the region was thus part of the Anglican church of Australia and no longer part of the diocese of Melanesia and the province of New Zealand.
By the date of that change of jurisdiction LAWRENCE had left the old diocese of Melanesia and returned to England.
As a result of his leaving New Britain before the region became part of the Australian church, he has no place in the Cable Clerical Index of the Australian church. However, since he has been included in CCI. RAB

To ensure that he is not lost from view I have included him in the BBD. MWB

[Historical Note on Norfolk Island and New Zealand:
(1788) Norfolk Island was settled from Sydney, later abandoned, later re-settled as a 'place of secondary punishment', subject to the government of NSW and (from 1836) the bishop of Australia.

(1840) transportation of convicts to NSW ceased, and continued to Van Diemen's Land [Tasmania] until 1853
(1840) Norfolk Island (remaining as a penal settlement) came under Tasmanian colonial jurisdiction and (1842) after the creation of the diocese of Tasmania under the bishop of Tasmania
(1856) GA SELWYN tried to buy land on Norfolk Island as the base for the incipient Melanesian mission. Sir William DENISON the governor of NSW and governor-general of the Australian colonies (the latter office being titular only and ceasing in 1861) objected to SELWYN's proposal because he did not want Norfolk Island to be the centre of SELWYN's Melanesian mission – he referred to 'the influence of the savage Melanesians on Mr [George] NOBBS' carefully-guarded and child-like flock' of people of mixed-European race
(1866) under Sir John YOUNG successor to DENISON the Melanesian mission did purchase land Norfolk Island:
(1867) Norfolk Island was the headquarters for the missionary diocese of Melanesia, and thus part of the Anglican province of New Zealand
(1913) administration of Norfolk Island was transferred from the NSW state to the Australian federal government.
(1919) after the headquarters of the diocese of Melanesia moved from S Barnabas Norfolk Islands to the Solomons, the parish of Norfolk Island continued to be staffed by chaplains appointed by the diocese of Melanesia. Over many years the financial support by the local residents for their parish priest was insufficient; this settler parish was thus a burden on the missionary diocese of Melanesia
(05 Aug 1938) Norfolk Island was formally transferred to the diocese of Sydney, and thus the Anglican church of Australia. (269;111)

Other

27 Jan 1896 death notice The Times

Note: *but the full reasons are provided in a letter of the Revd Joshua JONES to F de Jersey CLERE, in congratulations on the latter's appointment as diocesan architect: 'misunderstanding with the Bishop from whom, LEECH complained, that he had received such a reprimand as he had not experienced since he left school. His stipend (only £150 per annum) was left unpaid though the district had raised and sent down enough to pay it. He wrote: on further enquiry he found that the arrears dated back to [John Lloyd] KEATING's time, and had not been allowed to interfere with the regular payment of [CARUS] WILSON's stipend in the meantime; that he had 'written temperately to the bishop and got a rocket back': LEECH with relief accepted the offer from Sydney, renewing an offer he had declined two months earlier; problem of 'KEATING's American ideas of finance, and they [local people] complain that 'the church is a byword for its frequent changes [i.e. of clergy] and general unsatisfactoriness'; that they 'lay the chief blame of their misfortunes on [RJ] THORPE', in which they only partially make out their case; 'low regard THORPE is held generally now', noting the 'freedom of TOWGOOD and LEECH about THORPE'. LEECH a personal friend of THORPE previously 'now says he [THORPE] is weak-minded, unpractical and incorrigibly meddlesome … morally crooked … intriguing to make himself bishop; that [Arthur] 'STOCK thinks the bishopric is his by right upon next voidance', that he 'does not help cordiality between the existing or the two expectant bishops'. Bishop [HADFIELD] is 'chiefly at fault by yielding to THORPE in sending up the 1st scamp [CARUS WILSON] and then an invalid' [LEECH]. 'As to the first of these, the last news is that he [CARUS WILSON] returned to England in the BRITISH QUEEN, that he went ashore in Rio [de Janeiro] and got very drunk and came back to the ship and thrashed his wife'. (See papers of Octavius HADFIELD in the ATL, MS-Papers-0668)

25 Aug 1910 arrived Wellington on TURAKINA
07 Sep 1910-1911 member Mission of Help to New Zealand church;
(22 Oct-31 Oct 1910) at Sydenham Christchurch
1913-1914 canon York
on his return to Hull he made critical comments: the New Zealand church was nerveless, asleep, anaemic, and self-satisfied. He was struck with the prevalence of a Socialism which had been fostered by the Labour government during the 25 years in power. In a large parish of 13 000 it was a usual thing to have a congregation of 130, and he found in some places churchwardens who had not been baptised; in their response the Revd H A KENNEDY of Horbury vicarage and the Revd Cyril HEPHER of S John Newcastle were extremely annoyed. KENNEDY had been the colleague of Canon POLLOCK in the advance campaign. (24 Apr 1911 Evening Post)

obituary Southern Cross Long (English edition) vol 77 #2 1969

Note LONGDEN was ordained in 1932, two years beyond the terminal scope of ordinations for usual inclusion (but now included RAB) in the Blain Biographical Directory. He served in the diocese of Melanesia particularly in New Britain a region transferred (1947) to the Anglican provincial jurisdiction of Queensland (part of the Church of Australia). As LONGDEN served in New Britain before this transfer (1947) to the Australian church, he has no place in the Cable Clergy Index of the priests of the Anglican Church of Australia which includes priests only from the Australian church. Lest he be lost from view, he is included here in the Blain Biographical Directory. (Feb 2009 MWB)

Connections: This priest does not stand out for any particular merits beyond the connections, to Bishop Edward GREY and his brother Earl GREY, as well through the Church to CJ BLOMFIELD. He was curate to his father-in-law who became his bishop and as patron appointed him to Kington.

Henry William MADDOCK was (February 1850) proposed by JC WYNTER (qv) as the bishop of Lyttelton which offer from the Canterbury Association he (like WYNTER before, like GELL and TORLESSE after) rejected, before the offer was made fifthly (in May 1850) to Thomas JACKSON (qv). The Canterbury Association failed to provide this key element a bishop for their free Anglican Church settlement. In the end it was the initiative of George Augustus SELWYN, bishop of New Zealand who brought forward his old tutor and friend Henry John Chitty HARPER, who proved exactly appropriate as the 1st bishop of Christchurch.

The GREY family was extremely important for the social reforms in England and the empire. Henry William MADDOCK's eldest brother Sir Thomas Herbert MADDOCK, was deputy governor of Bengal and president of the Council of India. This connection again illustrates the powerful connections of these Canterbury Association members, connections which reach around the world in the extending British commercial, and imperial ventures, as well as in the less powerful but closely connected world of church outreach.

It may be of interest that a few years after MADDOCK was a curate there, the Revd Bryan KING was perpetual curate of S John Bethnal Green (1838-1842); later in the century S John's was a Ritualist centre. KING himself was at the centre of the anti-Ritualist riots at the church S George-in-the-East, London, where after sustained attacks on him and disruptive riots around his church he retired in broken health; his grandson, also Bryan KING, as a priest under Bishop NEVILL of Dunedin developed social work in the diocese of Dunedin.
