Kjellander + Sjöberg are considered a part of the renewed Swedish architecture. During more than ten years, they have created an architecture far from the obvious, that instead last over time after a long daily use. It is an architecture where housing, social issues about how we live our lives and our need to participate in public life, is central. Architecture should come close. It should be practical and beautiful everyday. "Kjellander + Sjöberg let architecture be what it should be", says Hans Ibelings in one of the book's essays. The book Kjellander + Sjöberg is part of a series of books on Nordic architecture.
