“Harassment” is defined as any vexatious behaviour in the form of repeated and hostile or unwanted conduct, verbal comments, actions or gestures that affect an individual’s dignity or psychological or physical integrity and result in a harmful event environment for the community members. A single severe incidence of such behaviour that has a lasting detrimental effect may constitute harassment.

This definition includes sexual harassment and harassment related to one of the grounds in the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms. These grounds are sex, race, colour, creed, religion, national or ethnic origin, age, disability, family or marital status, or sexual orientation.

Harassment may be manifested in various forms: verbal, physical, psychological and sexual.

“Discrimination” is defined as (i) any action, inaction or behaviour which negatively affects the status of anyone with whom we come into contact at the GDMF office or the event or (ii) treating anyone unequally based on any prohibited ground under human rights legislation, such as sex, race, colour, creed, religion, nationality or ethnic origin, age, disability, family, marital status, or sexual orientation.

If any individual engages in harassing and discriminatory behaviour, whether in person or virtually, the event organizers may take any action they deem appropriate depending on the circumstances, ranging from issuance of a warning to the offending individual to expulsion from the event (with no refund and prohibiting from participating in future events, in case of vendors and performers).

If you see someone behaving disrespectfully and feel safe and comfortable doing so, you are encouraged to discourage them from such behaviour respectfully. If you do not feel safe, comfortable, or able to respond and resolve the situation respectfully, please immediately bring it to the attention of GDMF event staff and the area-specific coordinators. We want to hear from you about any behaviour you feel is disrespectful, threatening, or unacceptable. We will listen and work to resolve the matter.

Event organizers will enforce this Code of Conduct throughout the event to ensure a pleasant and inclusive experience for everyone.

* I acknowledge that I have carefully read and understood the eligibility criteria and will adhere to the Code of Conduct.
