MEMPHIS AND SHELBY COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY*

Again the Memphis and Shelby County Medical Society welcomes the Southern Medical Association to Memphis.

The exact age of organized medicine in Memphis is not definitely known, but probably dates from the early days of the City. It is known that the physicians were organized, had regular monthly meetings, and published their papers in the Memphis Medical Recorder in the decade before the Civil War.

The present Society has minutes of meetings since 1876, though it functioned under such names as the Shelby County Medical Society and the Memphis Medical Society before the adoption of the present name.

Two epidemics of yellow fever, 1873 and 1878, proved the members of the medical profession of that time to be heroes. In 1878 more than half the population of the City fled, but of the 19,600 people who remained all but two thousand had the disease. All the physicians of the City save one had yellow fever, and seventeen died. Twenty-seven volunteer physicians from other sections of the country also died fighting the epidemic in Memphis. This is another proof, if one is needed, that medical men meet all their obligations regardless of the personal sacrifice required. During this period the Memphis physicians met every night to exchange ideas and experiences, and in addition to their other labors during this terrible period, they performed nearly three hundred autopsies in an effort to learn more of the disease they combated.

It has always been the aim of the Memphis and Shelby County Medical Society to pass on its tradition of labor, service, sacrifice and research to those who follow in the profession.

The first Physicians' Business Bureau was organized by members of the Memphis and Shelby County Medical Society and has collected more than one and a half million dollars for local physicians. The organization has served as a model for a number of such bureaus throughout the country.

The Society has group life insurance and group accident and health insurance for its members.

The Memphis and Shelby County Medical Society now has three hundred and sixty-six members and has meetings twice monthly.

The present officers of the Memphis and Shelby County Medical Society are: Dr. Joseph H. Francis, President; Dr. William Calvert Chaney, President-Elect; Dr. William D. Stinson, Vice-President; Dr. Arthur F. Cooper, Secretary; and Dr. Ernest G. Kelly, Treasurer.

All Presidents, Presidents-Elect, Secretaries and Editors are most cordially invited to attend the meeting. A similar conference was held in connection with the past three annual meetings, Baltimore in 1936, New Orleans in 1937 and Oklahoma City in 1938, and all proved interesting and helpful.

This Conference is an independent group, has no connection in an official way with the Southern Medical Association, the Association meeting offering a desirable time and place to hold the Conference.

Dr. Harvey F. Garrison, Jackson, Mississippi, is Chairman. He originated the idea and acted as Chairman for the first meeting and in succeeding years has been elected by the Conference as its Chairman. Dr. Garrison announces that there will be a program of interest and value to those who are officially connected with organized medicine in the South.

TECHNICAL EXHIBITS

To make the Memphis meeting more enjoyable for attending physicians, a new policy governing technical or so-called commercial exhibits has been adopted. Basis for this policy adoption lies in the conviction of the Association management that technical exhibits of the better class contribute much in scientific and educational value to a well-rounded medical meeting.

The policy briefly summarized is an effort to do away with (1) selling, (2) sampling and (3) souvenir collecting, so that the whole atmosphere of the exhibit will be that of show and demonstration and not of merchandising or commercialism.

(1) There is to be no selling; however, should a physician of his own accord and without solicitation request that an item on display be sent to him, it will be agreeable for the exhibitor to book his order—the technical exhibits are at the meeting for the benefit of the attending physicians.

(2) Samples cannot be displayed and are to be given away only when specifically requested. Should a physician call at an exhibit and express definite interest in a product and without suggestion request a sample and/or literature, it will be permissible for such sample and/or literature to be given. It will be permissible for those calling at exhibits to have their names taken for samples and literature to be sent from the home office of the exhibitor. Reprints, literature and clinical data about products may be displayed within the exhibit, but such material cannot be passed out to the visitor or passer-by except upon request.

(3) Souvenirs of any description cannot be given away at any exhibit, at any point in the Auditorium, or at section meeting places.

The policy is the result of several years' careful observation at our meetings, and those of other organizations, and it is felt that a more wholesome understanding between the attending physicians and commercial houses will inevitably develop with its adoption.

An exhibit floor void of objectionable commercialism, free from carnival-like prize collecting and devoted to professional enlightenment and improvement will prove an appreciable aid in maintaining and improving the physicians' respect for technical exhibits and the houses represented.

The object is to make the technical exhibits more definitely a scientific and educational part of the Southern Medical Association meetings and therefore worth definitely more to attending physicians.

See page 100 for complete list of exhibit firms.

Be sure to visit the technical exhibits.

Cars to convey shooters to the field will leave the Peabody Hotel promptly at 12:30 p. m.

The program will consist of 100 targets, standard 16-yard rise and fifty targets of skeet.

Trophies

High gun overall in addition will also receive a prize.

Classes

Lewis Class Division of the trophies. All shooters classify themselves into classes A, B and C by their scores made in the events.

Rules

With the exception of the methods used in classifying shooters, A.T.S.A. and N.S.S.A. rules will govern.

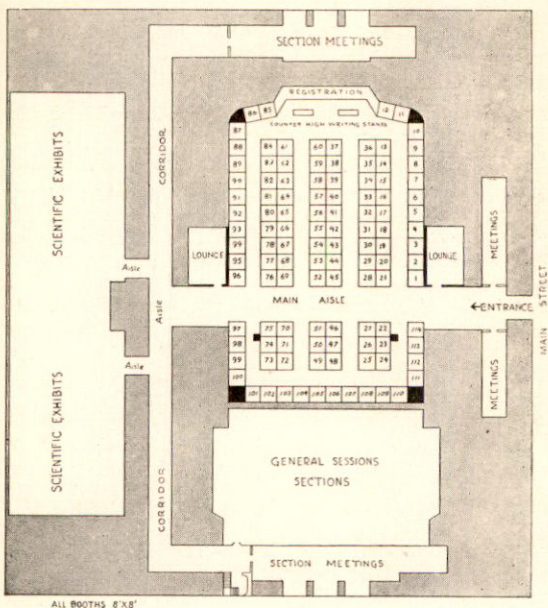

Shooting will start promptly at 1:00 p. m., and it is most essential that everyone be on time; otherwise the program cannot be finished before dark.

A referee will call dead or lost targets after each shot; he will interpret all rules; his decision will be final.

All ties will be shot off at twenty-five targets.

The Committee requests shooters to bring their own guns, but will have on hand several trap and skeet guns which will be available when desired, at no extra cost to the shooter. Shells of all popular makes and gauges will be on sale on the club grounds.

Dr. S. S. Evans, 502 Physicians and Surgeons Building, Memphis, is Chairman of the Trap Shooting Committee, and associated with him are Dr. O. S. McCown, Sr., and Dr. E. M. Holder. The Committee will be glad to be of service in any way they can to visiting shooters.
