89TH ANNUAL SCIENTIFIC ASSEMBLY PURPOSE AND OBJECTIVES

In keeping with the Southern Medical Association's mission, which is to develop and foster the art and science of medicine, the Scientific Assembly is the Association's premier annual educational activity. Dedicated to meeting the educational needs of the multi-specialty membership, the Assembly strives to develop and promote continuing medical education, with the ultimate goal of enhancing patient care.

The 89th Annual Scientific Assembly of the Southern Medical Association will provide physicians the opportunity to update their medical knowledge and enhance their clinical skills by offering a multi-faceted curriculum of activities. The major objectives of the Annual Scientific Assembly are:

- To afford specialty physicians the opportunity to present research and clinical experience through the submission of abstracts and presentation of papers to the specialty sections;
- To afford primary and specialty physicians the opportunity to participate in peer-directed specialty sections and to interact in interdisciplinary joint section meetings;
- To complement specialty section meetings with lectures presented by internationally known faculty;
- To offer grand rounds featuring timely specialty and multi-specialty patient cases;
- To present updates and overviews on state-of-the-art techniques and innovative procedures by offering postgraduate courses for both specialists and primary care physicians;
- To complement the postgraduate courses and specialty section meetings through presentation of scientific and clinical symposia, addressing current clinical concerns, presented by nationally recognized experts;
- To promote the role of residents and fellows in clinical research, by providing a forum for their submission and presentation of abstracts, and recognition of their contributions to the educational process;
- To address practical medical concerns and afford physicians the opportunity to exchange clinical information through interactive round table discussions;
- To facilitate the sharing of clinical and research findings, encompassing new and emerging techniques, procedures, and results, through scientific exhibits and poster presentations.

The Southern Medical Association is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to sponsor continuing medical education for physicians.

SMA'S PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Louis A.Cancellaro, Ph.D., M.D.
1994-1995 President

It is my privilege and pleasure to welcome you to this the 89th Scientific Assembly of the SMA. The scientific program indeed is impressive and offers the opportunity for you to select from over 300 CME credit hours. As you can see, there is an extensive array of papers, clinical symposia, specialty programs, lunch and learn sessions with distinguished clinicians, and, featuring for the first time, multispecialty grand rounds. The grand rounds, immediately following the opening ceremony, will address seven relevant clinical topics: headache, breast disease, incontinence, the PSA test, bioethics, back pain, and gastroenterology. Our postgraduate courses, eleven in number, focus on state-of-the-art techniques and new procedures and provide an opportunity for a hands-on experience. Twenty-eight specialty sections, including two new sections, Geriatric Medicine and a non-clinical section on Medical Management and Administration, are represented. SMA's Assembly is unique in that specialty sections meet together to discuss, in depth, a topic of special interest. This year you may choose from 21 joint sessions.

The President's symposium, Professionalism, and Ethical Practice in Managed Care, will conclude the scientific program. The topics include: the impact of managed care on quality and cost of care, shifting delivery paradigms and practice patterns; physicians' changing role and responsibilities; unique ethical issues and dilemmas, and traditional values of respect, compassion, and integrity. Ample time is afforded for audience participation.

Once again, our staff has met the challenge, surpassing all expectations. In addition to an outstanding scientific program, they have provided a variety of options to entertain young guests of all ages, not just the "older" young at heart. The opening ceremony will be exciting and memorable. A Southern humorist, Larry Wamble, with his unique understanding of human nature will be the keynote speaker. Entertainment will be provided by the Youth Symphony of the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra and the American Youth Ballet. The President's-Doctors' Day Awards luncheon will feature Rosita Perez, winner of the Cavett award as speaker. The President's night dinner dance will feature a spectacular all star salute to Andrew Lloyd Webber–A Touch of Broadway in Kansas City. The Pink Flamingos have returned again for your dancing pleasure before and after the featured entertainment.

I call your attention to other outstanding offerings:

- The SMA retirement program is offering retirement sessions daily.
- Alumni and Section social events and New Member Reception on Thursday evening.
- Scientific exhibits/posters recognition reception, Thursday evening.
- Enrichment programs highlighting the varied beautiful aspects of Kansas City.

This exceptional meeting would not have been possible without the dedicated work of the Advance Planning Committee, the Scientific Advisory Committee, the Section Secretaries, the Midwest Bioethics Center, the Coordinating Committee on Education, and our general chairs on arrangements, Dr. and Mrs. A.J. Campbell.

Special thanks are extended to our technical exhibitors and pharmaceutical companies and industry support who have provided unrestricted grants in support of the meeting. To our hard working dedicated staff of the SMA, without whom none of this would be possible, I am deeply grateful.

Learn and have fun. Enjoy what has been prepared for you, enjoy Kansas City's offerings, and thank you for the honor of being your President.

The patient is demanding that his case be taken to court or before the hospital ethics committee.

Following the video, Robert Potter, M.D., Ph.D., will lead participants in an ethical analysis of the case — identifying key issues, screening options through a list of ethical principles and virtues associated with the practice of medicine.

Toward the end of the session, Myra Christopher (Bioethics development group, a national division of MIDWEST BIOETHICS CENTER), will make a short presentation about how ethics committees can support quality medical decisions, provide moral support to physicians in such situations and possibly reduce legal exposure. Also included will be brief comments on the expectations of accrediting organizations regarding patients' rights.

PURPOSE: The program for the Section on Emergency Medicine is designed to provide a forum for case and research presentations on clinical advances and emerging trends in the specialty.

OBJECTIVES AND EDUCATIONAL OUTCOMES: Discuss controversies in trauma resuscitation; examine the effect of emergency department (ED) management, observation, and discharge on subsequent ED visits and admissions for patients with a variety of diagnoses; examine differences in mechanism, presentation, and outcome of trauma in geriatric patients presenting to the ED with pelvic fractures; address recommendations by the NIH National Heart Attack Alert Committee for improving management of chest pain patients in the ED; discuss emergency department physician compliance with recommended antibiotic treatment guidelines and the cost of discrepancies; to determine if women currently in battering relationships, but not acutely injured by battering, present to the ED with different diagnoses than women not in battering relationships; identify the unique challenges faced by a rural EMS system; determine whether domestic violence is a significant predictor for homicide of women in the home, and to assess the characteristics of domestic violence related homicides; determine whether the inability to firmly grasp a tongue blade between teeth is a sensitive indicator of mandible fracture; discuss a fall prevention education program for pre-hospital providers to educate the elderly so that they can avoid falls.

TARGET AUDIENCE: This section meeting is designed for emergency physicians and other primary care providers, however, information presented may also be of benefit to physicians in training, physicians with occasional contact with the patient population in discussion, and at times other health care professionals.

SECTION ON OCCUPATIONAL MEDICINE

OFFICERS

Chairman.....WILLIAM J. LUPINACCI, M.D., Dothan, AL

Secretary.....GEORGE W. WARREN, M.D., Little Rock, AR

Guest Speaker.....JOSEPH LaDOU, M.D., San Francisco, CA

PURPOSE: The purpose of the section on Occupational Medicine is to provide a mixture of clinically usable information about the diagnosis and treatment of occupationally related injuries and illness with reports on current research which appears to have application in the management of patients.

OBJECTIVES: To open the minds of physicians to the possible influence of the workplace on the health of their patients, while stimulating those practicing this specialty to continue to refine their diagnostic and therapeutic skills.

EDUCATIONAL OUTCOMES: The educational outcome is to present information which is immediately applicable in the practice setting. This is accomplished by an admixture of presentations by clinicians and academicians whose research imparts knowledge which is usable.

TARGET AUDIENCE: Because the distinction between disease caused by workplace exposures and those arising from other etiologies is not clear, the program of the Occupational Medicine Section holds interest for family practitioners, emergency physicians, internal medicine specialists, neurologists, and a host of other specialty groups. In addition, because trauma is often discussed, orthopaedic, thoracic and general surgeons may also find topics of interest within this section.

NOTE: All sessions, unless otherwise stated, will be held at the Kansas City Convention Center-Bartle Hall.

Nicotrol®
(NICOTINE TRANSDERMAL SYSTEM)

Systemic delivery of 15, 10 or 5 mg/day over 16 hours.
Before prescribing, please see full prescribing information.
A brief summary follows. INDICATIONS AND USAGE Nicotrol systems, applied while patients are awake, are indicated as an aid to smoking cessation for the relief of nicotine withdrawal symptoms. Nicotrol therapy is recommended for use as part of a comprehensive behavioral smoking cessation program. The use of Nicotrol systems beyond 5 months has not been studied. CONTRAINDICATIONS Use of Nicotrol systems is contraindicated in patients with known hypersensitivity or allergy to nicotine or to any component of Nicotrol transdermal systems. WARNINGS Nicotine from any source can be toxic and addictive. Smoking causes lung cancer, heart disease, emphysema, and may adversely affect the fetus and the pregnant woman. For any smoker, with or without concomitant disease or pregnancy, the risk of nicotine replacement in a smoking cessation program should be weighed against the hazard of continued smoking while using Nicotrol systems, and the likelihood of achieving cessation of smoking without nicotine replacement. Pregnancy Warning Tobacco smoke, which has been shown to be harmful to the fetus, contains nicotine, hydrogen cyanide, and carbon monoxide. Nicotine has been shown in animal studies to cause fetal harm. It is therefore presumed that Nicotrol systems can cause fetal harm when administered to a pregnant woman. The effect of nicotine delivery by Nicotrol systems has not been examined in pregnancy (see PRECAUTIONS). Therefore, pregnant smokers should be encouraged to attempt cessation using educational and behavioral interventions before using pharmacological approaches. If Nicotrol therapy is used during pregnancy, or if the patient becomes pregnant while using Nicotrol systems, the patient should be apprised of the potential hazard to the fetus. Safety Note Concerning Children The amounts of nicotine that are tolerated by adult smokers can produce symptoms of poisoning and could prove fatal if a Nicotrol system is applied or ingested by children or pets. Used 15 mg/day systems contain about 40% (10 mg) of its initial drug content. Therefore, patients should be cautioned to keep both the used and unused Nicotrol systems out of the reach of children and pets. PRECAUTIONS The patient should be urged to stop smoking completely when initiating Nicotrol therapy (see DOSAGE AND ADMINISTRATION). Patients should be informed that if they continue to smoke while using Nicotrol systems, they may experience adverse effects due to peak nicotine levels higher than those experienced from smoking alone. If there is a clinically significant increase in cardiovascular or other effects attributable to nicotine, the treatment should be discontinued (see WARNINGS). Physicians should anticipate that concomitant medications may need dosage adjustment (see Drug Interactions). Use of Nicotrol systems beyond 5 months by patients who stop smoking should be discouraged because the chronic consumption of nicotine by any route can be harmful and addicting. Allergic Reactions In a 3-week open-label dermal irritation and sensitization study of Nicotrol systems applied 23 hours per day, 3 of 215 patients (1.4%) exhibited definite erythema at 24 hours after application. Upon rechallenge, none of the subjects exhibited any contact allergy. In the efficacy trials erythema following system removal was typically seen in 7% of patients, edema was seen in 3% , and dropouts due to skin reactions were reported in 1% of patients. Severe skin reactions were not observed in either of the trials. Patients who exhibit contact sensitization should be cautioned that a serious reaction could occur from exposure to other nicotine-containing products or smoking. Patients should be instructed to discontinue promptly the use of Nicotrol systems and contact their physicians in the case of severe or persistent local skin reactions at the site of application (e.g., severe erythema, pruritus, or edema) or a generalized skin reaction (e.g., urticaria, hives, or generalized rashes). Skin Disease The Nicotrol system is usually well tolerated by patients with normal skin, but may be irritating for patients with some skin disorders (psoriasis, atopic or eczematous dermatitis). Cardiovascular or Peripheral Vascular Diseases The risks of nicotine replacement in patients with certain cardiovascular and peripheral vascular diseases should be weighed against the benefits of including nicotine replacement in a smoking cessation program for them. Specifically, patients with coronary heart disease (history of myocardial infarction and/or angina pectoris), serious cardiac arrhythmias, or vasospastic diseases (Buerger's disease, Prinzmetal's variant angina) should be carefully screened and evaluated before nicotine replacement is prescribed. Tachycardia occurring in association with the use of Nicotrol therapy was reported occasionally. If serious cardiovascular symptoms occur with the use of Nicotrol systems, the therapy should be discontinued. Nicotrol therapy should generally not be used in patients during the immediate post-myocardial infarction period or in patients with serious arrhythmias or with severe or worsening angina pectoris. Renal or Hepatic Insufficiency The pharmacokinetics of nicotine have not been studied in the elderly or in patients with renal or hepatic impairment. However, given that nicotine is extensively metabolized and that its total system clearance is dependent on liver blood flow, some influence of hepatic impairment on drug kinetics (reduced clearance) should be anticipated. Only severe renal impairment would be expected to affect the clearance of nicotine or its metabolites from the circulation (see Pharmacokinetics). Endocrine Diseases Nicotrol therapy should be used with caution in patients with hyperthyroidism, pheochromocytoma or insulin-dependent diabetes, since nicotine causes the release of catecholamines by the adrenal medulla. Peptic Ulcer Disease Nicotine delays healing in peptic ulcer disease; therefore, Nicotrol therapy should be used with caution in patients with active peptic ulcers and only when the benefits of including nicotine replacement in a smoking cessation program outweigh the risks. Accelerated Hypertension Nicotine therapy constitutes a risk factor for development of malignant hypertension patients with accelerated hypertension; therefore, Nicotrol therapy should be used with caution in these patients and only when the benefits of including nicotine replacement in a smoking cessation program outweigh the risks. Information for Patient A patient instruction sheet is included in the package of Nicotrol systems dispensed to the patient. It contains important information and instructions on how to use and dispose of Nicotrol systems properly. Patients should be encouraged to ask questions of the physician and pharmacist. Patients must be advised to keep both used and unused systems out of the reach of children and pets. Drug Interactions Smoking cessation, with or without nicotine replacement, may alter the pharmacokinetics of certain concomitant medications.

May Require a Decrease in Dose at Cessation of Smoking	Possible Mechanism
Acetaminophen, caffeine, imipramine, oxazepam, pentazocine, propranolol, theophylline	Deinduction of hepatic enzymes on smoking cessation.
Insulin	Increase of subcutaneous insulin absorption with smoking cessation.
Adrenergic antagonists (e.g.,prazosin, labetalol)	Decrease in circulating catecholamines with smoking cessation.
May Require an Increase in Dose at Cessation of Smoking	Possible Mechanism
Adrenergic agonists (e.g., isoproterenol, phenylephrine)	Decrease in circulating catecholamines with smoking cessation.

Carcinogenesis, Mutagenesis, Impairment of Fertility Nicotine itself does not appear to be a carcinogen in laboratory animals. However, nicotine and its metabolites increased the incidences of tumors in the cheek pouches of hamsters and forestomach of F344 rats, respectively, when given in combination with tumor-initiators. One study, which could not be replicated, suggested that cotinine, the primary metabolite of nicotine, may cause lymphoreticular sarcoma in the large intestine in rats. Neither nicotine nor cotinine were mutagenic in the Ames Salmonella test. Nicotine induced repairable DNA damage in an E. coli test system. Nicotine was shown to be genotoxic in a test system using Chinese hamster ovary cells. In rats and rabbits, implantation can be delayed or inhibited by a reduction in DNA synthesis that appears to be caused by nicotine. Studies have shown a decrease in litter size in rats treated with nicotine during gestation. PREGNANCY Pregnancy Category D (see WARNINGS section). The harmful effects of cigarette smoking on maternal and fetal health are clearly established. These include low birth weight, an increased risk of spontaneous abortion, and increased perinatal mortality. The specific effects of Nicotrol therapy on fetal development are unknown. Therefore, pregnant smokers should be encouraged to attempt cessation using educational and behavioral interventions before using pharmacological approaches. Spontaneous abortion during nicotine replacement therapy has been reported; as with smoking, nicotine as a contributing factor cannot be excluded. Nicotrol systems should be used during pregnancy only if the likelihood of smoking cessation justifies the potential risk of using Nicotrol systems by the pregnant patient, who might continue to smoke.

Teratogenicity Animal Studies: Nicotine was shown to produce skeletal abnormalities in the offspring of mice when given doses toxic to the dams (25 mg/ kg IP or SC). Human Experience: Nicotine teratogenicity has not been studied in humans except as a component of cigarette smoke (each cigarette smoked delivers about 1 mg of nicotine). It has not been possible to conclude whether cigarette smoking is teratogenic to humans. Other Effects Animal Studies: A nicotine bolus (up to 2 mg/kg) to pregnant rhesus monkeys caused acidosis, hypercarbia, and hypotension (fetal and maternal concentrations were about 20 times those achieved after smoking one cigarette in 5 minutes). Fetal breathing movements were reduced in the fetal lamb after intravenous injection of 0.25/mg/kg nicotine to the ewe (equivalent to smoking 1 cigarette every 20 seconds for 5 minutes). Uterine blood flow was reduced about 30% after infusion of 0.l µg/kg/min nicotine to pregnant rhesus monkeys (equivalent to smoking about six cigarettes every minute for 20 minutes). Human Experience: Cigarette smoking during pregnancy is associated with an increased risk of spontaneous abortion, low birth weight infants, and perinatal mortality. Nicotine and carbon monoxide are considered the most likely mediators of these outcomes. The effects of cigarette smoking on fetal cardiovascular parameters have been studied near term. Cigarettes increased fetal aortic blood flow and heart rate and decreased uterine blood flow and fetal breathing movements. Nicotrol systems have not been tested in pregnant women.
Labor and Delivery Nicotrol systems are not recommended for use during labor and delivery. The effects of nicotine on a mother or the fetus during labor is unknown. Use in Nursing Mothers Caution should be exercised when Nicotrol systems are administered to nursing women. The safety of Nicotrol therapy in nursing infants has not been examined. Nicotine passes freely into breast milk; the milk to plasma ratio averages 2.9. Nicotine is absorbed orally. An infant has the ability to clear nicotine by hepatic first pass clearance; however, the efficiency of removal is probably lowest at birth. Nicotine concentrations in milk can be expected to be lower with Nicotrol systems when used while awake than with cigarette smoking, as maternal plasma nicotine concentrations are generally reduced with nicotine replacement. The risk of exposure of the infant to nicotine from Nicotrol therapy should be weighed against the risks associated with the infant's exposure to nicotine from continued smoking by the mother (passive smoke exposure and contamination of breast milk with other components of tobacco smoke) and from Nicotrol therapy alone or in combination with continued smoking.
Pediatric Use Nicotrol therapy is not recommended for use in children because the safety and effectiveness of Nicotrol therapy in children and adolescents who smoke have not been evaluated. Geriatric Use Seventy-nine patients over the age of 60 participated in clinical trials of Nicotrol therapy. Nicotrol therapy appeared to be as effective in this age group as in younger smokers. ADVERSE REACTIONS Assessment of adverse events in the 509 subjects who participated in controlled clinical trials is complicated by the occurrence of GI and CNS effects of nicotine withdrawal as well as nicotine excess. The actual incidences of both are confounded by the smoking of many patients. When reporting adverse events in the trials the investigators did not attempt to identify the cause of the symptom. No serious adverse events were reported during the trials. Topical Adverse Events The most common adverse event associated with topical nicotine is a mild and short-lived erythema, pruritus, or burning at the application site, which was seen at least once in 47% of patients on Nicotrol systems in the efficacy trials. Local erythema after system removal was noted at least once in 7% of patients and local edema in 3%. Erythema generally resolved within 24 hours. About 1% of patients dropped out of clinical trials due to skin reactions; none had classical contact sensitization (see PRECAUTIONS, Allergic Reactions). In the clinical trials performed (one Danish and one U.S. clinic), fewer total patients were used than in trials of other nicotine transdermal systems, and fewer adverse reactions were reported than in U.S. trials with other systems achieving comparable blood levels. Therefore, the systemic adverse event rates in the two sections below are based in part on 1200 patients treated with systems delivering comparable rates of nicotine per hour. Probably Causally Related The following adverse events are believed related to Nicotrol treatment based on experience in clinical trials. Nervous system: Dizziness*. Musculoskeletal system: Arthralgia†. Skin and appendages: Rash†, sweating†. *reported in 3% to 9% of patients. †reported in 1% to 3% of patients. Complaints occurring in fewer than 1% are not listed. Causal Relationship UNKNOWN Adverse events reported in active-and placebo-treated patients at about the same frequency in clinical trials are listed below. The patient should read the patient instruction sheet on Nicotrol therapy and be encouraged to ask any questions. Treatment should be initiated with the Nicotrol 15 mg/day system. The patients should continue the treatment (one system each day) for 4-12 weeks of therapy. The patient should stop smoking cigarettes completely during this period. If the patient is unable to stop cigarette smoking within 4 weeks, Nicotrol therapy should be stopped, since few additional patients in clinical trials were able to abstain after this time.

Recommended Dosing Schedule

Dose	Duration
Nicotrol 15 mg/day	First 12 weeks
Nicotrol 10 mg/day	Next 2 weeks[a]
Nicotrol 5 mg/day	Last 2 weeks[b]

[a]Patients who have successfully abstained from smoking should have their dose of nicotine reduced after each 2-4 weeks of treatment until the Nicotrol 5 mg/day dose has been used for 2-4 weeks.
[b]The entire course of nicotine substitution and gradual withdrawal should take 14-20 weeks.
The use of Nicotrol therapy beyond 5 months has not been studied.

The Nicotrol system should be applied promptly upon its removal from the protective pouch to prevent loss of nicotine from the system. The Nicotrol system should be used only when the pouch is intact to assure the product has not been tampered with. A Nicotrol system should be applied only once a day to a non-hairy, clean, and dry skin site on the upper arm or the hip. Each day a Nicotrol system should be applied upon waking and removed at bedtime. Caution — Federal law prohibits dispensing without prescription.

NICOTROL should be used as part of a comprehensive behavioral smoking cessation program. • NICOTROL is indicated as an aid to smoking cessation for the relief of nicotine withdrawal symptoms. Patients should stop smoking completely before using NICOTROL. Patients should be told not to smoke or use other nicotine containing products while under treatment with NICOTROL. • The specific effects of NICOTROL treatment on fetal development and nursing infants are unknown. Therefore, pregnant or nursing smokers should be encouraged to attempt cessation using educational and behavioral interventions before using pharmacological approaches. • The risks of nicotine replacement in patients with certain cardiovascular and peripheral vascular diseases should be weighed against the benefits of including nicotine replacement in a smoking cessation program for them. • It is important to ask patients about any other medications they may be taking, because concomitant medications may need dosage adjustment (see Drug Interactions section of full prescribing information). • NICOTROL should not be used for periods longer than 5 continuous months.

Please see brief summary of full prescribing information on next page.
