J.ust A. R.ather V.ery I.ntelligent S.ystem – Mowry & Force The Goodbye Win Second Straight Rodeo Houston, Pocket $71,250

By Tanya Randall

Kassie Mowry captured their second straight $65,000 Rodeo Houston Championship aboard her great horse Force The Goodbye (“Jarvis”). The two-time and reigning WPRA World Champion from Dublin, Texas, pocketed a grand total of $71,250 of the $2.5 million rodeo purse to jump to No. 1 in the World Standings with $106,597.

“I feel like he clocked exceptionally for what I asked of him with that many runs,” said barrel racing’s all-time leading money-earner of her 8-year-old gelding by The Goodbye Lane, out of VF Forcitt First, by Burrs First Down.

Mowry started the regular season’s richest rodeo, held March 2-21, in the Super Series V.

Each Super Series had eight contestants competing in three rounds with the four richest earners advancing to one of two semifinals. The top four from each semifinal advanced to the Championship Round, while the remaining six were drawn into one of two Wildcard rounds. The winner of each Wildcard bumped the Championship Round to a field of 10, where the four fastest advanced to the $125,000 Shootout for the title.

Mowry was in the final Super Series, but first she had to take a trip on Friday, March 13 to Washington D.C. It was the first time in 42-years that rodeo’s world champions met with a sitting U.S. President in the White House. The once-in-a-lifetime experience did put her in a time crunch to make it to Houston in time for the barrel racers’ 6 a.m. practice session each day.

She was originally scheduled to fly out of DC early Friday evening, but her flight was delayed.

“My flight got delayed about five hours,” said Mowry. “I flew back with a whole plane of 8th graders, and they had been cooped up in the airport for four-five hours. It was quite a ride back to Houston!”

Mowry arrived at 2:30 a.m. and got a few hours of sleep before practice.

“Not knowing if I was going to practice was nerve wracking,” she said. “I hate when my horses are in limbo like that, but it worked out.”

Jarvis clocked well on his first run but caught the first barrel. Mowry said she made the same mistake as she did last year for her second run, opting to reward Jarvis’ effort by skipping the second round’s practice.

“I’m not doing that again!” she said. “I let him rest and didn’t go to practice because it’s a lot. You have to wake them up because they’re usually down sleeping, trailer to the stadium, go across all the concrete... I didn’t practice on him just like I didn’t last year and those were his worst runs.

“Even though I never get him out of a walk or a trot, it’s crazy how much it helps him. Just walking through a handful of times really seems to help.”

Mowry did manage to cash a little $250 check for a 14.79 so she needed to win the third round to have any chance of advancing to the Semifinals.

“My set was hard to get out of,” Mowry admitted. In fact, the Shootout was made up of three from Super Series V—Mowry, Series Champion Latricia Duke and Summer Kosel—only Hailey Kinsel came through another Series. “It was freaking tough. It was a wolfy set for sure.”

Even if she won the third round, others had to falter for Mowry to advance.

“There was no guarantee that I would progress even if I won my third round,” she said. “I had nothing to lose, so I set him up to be really fast. He just seems to really do well when I do that.” They won the round with the fastest time of the rodeo thus far, a 14.17 that outpaced Jordan Driver and TRHeavensIlluminated’s benchmark by .02.

“He just put it together,” Mowry said of Jarvis, who has career earnings of $2.1 million. There’s just something about when I need to put the pressure on him he just seems to step up. I certainly had to.”

In the second semifinal round, Mowry and Jarvis slammed the clock with a blistering 14.09. In the Championship Round, she said he stepped out on her a little and clocked a 14.37 to tie with Summer Kosel and advance.

“He was great in my semifinal round,” she said. “In the (championship round), I felt like he was pretty good, but he gave me too big of pockets. I really didn’t think he was going to clock that well. We were out in No Man’s Land, especially at the third barrel.”

FUTURITY HIATUS

After a series of illnesses ran through her up-and-coming futurity horses in 2025, Kassie Mowry decided to sell them all and basically start over for 2027. That was the perfect opportunity for Shelly Mull, who made a winning rodeo horse out of the Mowry-trained Hallelujah Epic, to obtain another.

At the C-N Futurity in Tulare, California, Mull and Green Paper Stacks (“Thomas”) took home a $4,217 championship. Thomas, who is by Dash Ta Fame and out of Dreamy Little Perks, by Dash For Perks, was bred, raised and trained by Mowry.

“The whole time I had Thomas I had that horse in mind for her,” Mowry said. “She’s been blowing me up for a couple of years that Hall (Hallelujah Epic) needs a buddy to rodeo with. I really wanted to futurity the colt, but when all my colts got sick, I finally decided that I had enough that I’m cutting this year and starting over. I was like ‘Shelly, I have your horse. I said he’s not finished but I know you can finish him out.’ It was a perfect fit from the start. She’s done a phenomenal job with him and he’ll compliment Hall perfectly.”

Mowry herself is exhibiting five 3-year-old potentials for 2027. She’s also hoping to get a little start on her 2-year-olds before turning them out for the summer while she finishes her quest for a fourth straight and sixth overall NFR berth.

Mowry said before her Shootout run Jarvis was “grumpy.”

“He was in a little bit of a mood, kind of crabby,” she said. “I don’t blame him. That was a lot. It was a lot runs. It was hot. I was asking a lot out of him. We don’t have a lot of time between those runs. He’ll drink two buckets of water after a run and I didn’t let him. He was in a mood and I knew it. He was just tired, but he still tried.”

As tight as the Championship Round was with a 14.4 not progressing, Mowry knew the Shootout meant taking risks.

“I was like cut every corner, hit every barrel, or try to, what have you got to lose? It pays all four. Everyone was surprised he ran like that, but I wasn’t. I tuned him up to cut corners like that rather than go by a barrel and be slow because it wasn’t going to get me any farther. I could be slow and have the same amount of money as a tipped barrel, so I’m going to take my chances and shave the barrels as close as I can,” she explained.

She said the beauty of Jarvis having more seasoning is that she can set him up to be really fast.

“That’s the beauty of that horse,” she said. “That’s what you have to do when it’s that tough. It was stupid how tight and tough it is.”

Jarvis will run again at Rodeo Austin this weekend and then will get a break until the Ruby Buckle. Mowry started out Rodeo Austin on CP He Will Be Epic but with San Angelo starting on Easter Sunday, she opted to switch to Jarvis at Austin.

San Angelo, with its progressive round in the Spur Arena, isn’t Jarvis’ jam. In fact, he missed making the performances in 2024. Will, however, loves San Angelo, having won it twice, including last year.

“Moving forward, Jarvis only has one thing a month until July,” Mowry said. “He has Austin this week, Ruby Buckle next month, and then The American the next month. He does have a little bit of a breather. I may see if I can fit in Royal Crown because he does seem to run better with a run coming off of a break.”

Blazzin The Way For Brittany Tonozzi at Elite Luck of the Draw Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Three-time WPRA World Champion and multiple aged event champion Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi piloted her homebred stallion Blazzin The Way (“Fireball”) to a $9,553 payday at the Elite Extravaganza, held March 18-22 in the Extraco Events Pavilion Arena in Waco, Texas.

Tonozzi and Fireball topped the $20,000-added, 117-entry Futurity for $7,904 and picked up an additional $1,649 from finishing second in 1D of Open Race 2 with a carryover from the second round of the Futurity.

“He is the easiest horse,” said Tonozzi, who calls Lampasas, Texas, home. “If all of his babies are like this, I’ve hit the barrel horse jackpot!”

“He’s had half the training that the other colts have and half the hauling. He was just born to run barrels. There have been two horses in my lifetime that have been exceptionally easy and wanted to do their jobs no matter what. That was Benny (Jets Top Gun) and him, and they’re bred the same (Blazin Jetolena on a Dash Ta Fame daughter). So, there is something to that cross.”

Fireball, who is apparently misnamed—“He’s not at all,” Tonozzi chuckled. “He walks so slow and is easy to be around. I’m like, ‘We named you the wrong thing!’”—is by 12.3 million dollar barrel horse sire Blazin Jetolena and out of Tonozzi’s homebred aged event champion and National Finals Rodeo qualifier Ima Famous Babe (“Katniss”), by Dash Ta Fame out of her 1.6 million dollar producer Streakin Six Babe, by Streakin Six, the sire of her WPRA World Champion Sixth Vision (“Stitch”).

Tonozzi said Fireball is the perfect combination of the two great horses.

“He’s so efficient in his turns,” she said. “I think he has the Blazin Jetolena style because Katniss could be pretty extreme in her turns. There were times that I was like, ‘Oh God! She’s going to lose me!’ He’s got the Blazin Jetolena efficiency and then he’s got her speed.”

Fireball was started under saddle by Brook Bearden as a 2-year-old. Tonozzi’s husband Garrett rode him most of his third year while she would get on him occasionally and take him around the barrels some.

“We got so many (breeding contracts) right off the bat, we had to leave him at the stud farm from February until June, and we leave in June to go to Colorado. There was no way I could run him as a 4-year-old. We got back (home to Texas) in September and started riding him.”

Fireball, who is a proficient head and heel horse in the team roping, exhibited a little the fall of his third year and followed much of the same pattern for his fourth year with a spring stent at the stud farm. Tonozzi started exhibiting him again in October and he made his debut at the inaugural running of the Freshman Slot Race at the Barrel Futurities of America’s World Championships in Guthrie, Oklahoma, in mid-late November.

“He made a great run, but I hit a barrel,” said Tonozzi, who then left for her 18th NFR. “He’s only been to like five events. He doesn’t go to jackpots because he’s at the stud farm. We just drive and go grab him a couple of days before a futurity, and he’s already back there today (Monday following Elite). He’s a pretty busy guy.”

Ironically, Tonozzi almost skipped out on Elite because it was Garrett’s and their daughter Tinley’s birthday weekend.

“We have a huge birthday weekend with like 50 people,” she said. “We have a kickball game. It’s known every year that’s the Tonozzi weekend and I had to hurry home on Saturday. I was almost not going to go but I’m glad I did!”

In the first round, Tonozzi and Fireball had a little “whoops” at the second barrel that kept them out of placing but still within striking distance with a 15.251.

“The first go-round, he smokes the first barrel and then going to the second barrel, he looks at the signs, misses the second barrel,” she explained. “He goes so far by the hole that we go by the barrel, which is kind of hard to do there because it’s on the fence. He’s just so honest. I can ride him one-handed to the third. He goes right to his spot.”

They came back to win the second round in 14.946 to claim the championship by a mere .006 over Hallie Hanssen and Krem De La Crem (The Kandyman x French Streakofbling x A Streak Of Fling).

“The second run, I had tuned him on the second barrel and got him getting in the ground at the second barrel in the warmup pen, then in the run, we get to the second barrel and he set so hard, he about dumped me! He's just so funny—"This is what my mom said to do, so this is what I'm going to do!" That's one thing with the Blazin Jetolena's, you better not overdo it because they're very literal."

Fireball entered the event with $21,847 in earnings, largely from a reserve championship at the Lone Star Shootout Futurity and a third-place finish in that event's slot race. He's now over $31,400 with very limited hauling and many of the major incentive events are yet to come this spring.

The Cattle Raisers Museum in Fort Worth is proud to present XIT Ranch: A Texas Legend Returns, a compelling photography exhibition celebrating the legacy and enduring influence of the historic XIT Ranch. The multi-gallery exhibition opens March 27 and will remain on display through February 2027.

Established in 1885, the XIT Ranch was born from one of the most remarkable land agreements in American history. Financiers John V. Farwell and Charles B. Farwell provided funding for the construction of the Texas State Capitol in exchange for more than three million acres of land in the Texas Panhandle. At its height, the ranch stretched across ten counties and became the world's largest fenced ranch, running as many as 150,000 head of cattle across its vast grasslands.

By the early 20th century, the XIT Ranch had declined. The last cattle bearing the XIT brand were shipped in 1912, and by 1963, the final acre of its vast holdings had passed into new hands. Yet the XIT never truly vanished. Its legacy lived on across the Texas Panhandle in local memory, in rodeo arenas, in businesses, and in the traditions of the communities it helped shape. It was a legend waiting to be revived.

That revival began in 2022, when descendants of John V. Farwell, Drew Knowles and his wife, Abby, purchased the ranch's historic Rita Blanca Division. Moving their family from Colorado, they returned to the land with a deep respect for its history and a forward-looking vision. Today, they steward the ranch with a focus on heritage, thoughtful land management, and progressive ranching practices, bridging the legacy of the past with the promise of the future.

The exhibition brings this history to life through photography that spans more than a century. Visitors will encounter historic XIT images including one captured by legendary Western photographer Erwin E. Smith, whose photographs from the late 1800s and early 1900s helped define the visual record of ranching and cowboy culture in Texas. They will also step further back in time through an archival gallery wall which features a historic image of the Texas State Capitol upon its completion in 1887.

Complementing Smith's historic work are contemporary interpretations from a group of respected modern photographers who document ranching culture today. Featured artists include Nicholas Dupuy, a Florida-based photographer and filmmaker known for chronicling modern Western culture; Crystal Wise of 360 West Magazine, who photographed the ranch while producing a feature story highlighting its landscape, people, and revival; and Peter Robbins, a Texas-based photographer and cowboy artist celebrated for documenting working ranches and the lives of cowboys throughout the American West.

Also included is the work of Belton Kleberg McMurrey, a sixth-generation member of the King Ranch family and curator of the exhibition. McMurrey's photography continues a family tradition of documenting ranching life. His images of the King Ranch were previously featured at the museum in 2025.

The exhibition further highlights the work of internationally recognized Western photographer Anouk Krantz, whose bold and cinematic photography offers a powerful interpretation of the modern American West. Her striking imagery bridges tradition and contemporary culture, introducing new audiences to the enduring relevance of ranching life. The XIT Ranch itself appears on the cover of one of Krantz's acclaimed books, Frontier, underscoring the ranch's lasting cultural significance.

XIT Ranch: A Texas Legend Returns marks the fourth annual ranching photography exhibition at the Cattle Raisers Museum and offers visitors a rare opportunity to explore the legacy of one of the most legendary ranches in Texas history through the lens of both past and present photographers.

The Cattle Raisers Museum is located inside the Fort Worth Museum of Science and History at 1600 Gendy Street in the Cultural District of Fort Worth.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

With our winter being warmer than usual, there is GREAT concern about it being dry. . . .so at The Barn, we've been praying for 'rain in its season'. The scripture we are standing on is Lev. 26:4, which says, "I will send you rain in its season, and the ground will yield its crops and the trees their fruit."

Now the Bible also says in I John 5:14-15 that we can confidently expect Him to answer our prayers, if we ask according to His will. (Rain in its season.). He also instructs us in James 1:6 that we are not to doubt. That makes us double minded.

So, I was out pruning and planting and digging, (RARELY in March, OFTEN in May) and the Lord spoke to me in my heart, that if I believed rain was coming, I needed to do something to keep myself centered and not doubting.

For the first time in as long as I can remember, I went and got my rain gauge and put it out!
