

World Weightlifting Championships

In 1983, the IWF decided to redate the first official World Championship to 1905. Until then the first official World Championship was that of 1922, the first one organized by the FIH. Later there were also the World Championships declared as official, organized before establishing the first world governing body in 1905.

¹⁰ cancelled due to World War II

¹¹ The World Championship 1967 should take place in Tokyo. The Japanese government banned the hoisting of the GDR flag as well as the playing of the GDR national anthem in the victory ceremony of an East German athlete. As the GDR insisted on the common victory ceremony, the Japanese federation canceled the World Championship.
