

KEY ADVANTAGE SEMESTER PASS PROGRAM

The Semester Pass Program is the updated version of a program SEPTA has had in a few different forms over the years. In the same way that the UPass Program is similar to the Key Advantage Program, the Semester Pass is the university equivalent of our SEPTA Key Corporate Program. It is a much more flexible and low-commitment transit benefit, allowing schools to provide a variety of SEPTA fare products at a discount of at least 10% to their students. Passes are offered for the fall and spring semesters.

Unlike the UPass, the Semester Pass is an opt-in program, meaning that it is up to individual students to reach out to an account administrator and request their desired fare product. This creates a great deal more flexibility for schools that may not have the ridership yet to implement a university-wide program but are still looking to provide their students with some form of transit benefit.

The Semester Pass's lower pricing comes in the form of a shared discount between SEPTA and the institution, as mentioned above. SEPTA agrees to provide a 5% discount, and in turn, the institution provides the same (although it is, of course, possible for a university to choose to give a greater discount to the students). These fare products then are applied for a four-month period – hence the name Semester Pass. Below, you can see a further breakdown of each available fare product and the cost to the student after the 10% shared discount is applied.

Just like the UPass and Key Advantage, passes, once purchased, are loaded onto a participating student's KeyCard.
